THE ATTRACTION PROCESS

It's true. You do have a direct connection to the Universe/God/Goddess/Higher Power. How you gain access to this connection is by focusing your thoughts to dial it up. This journal gives you an easy way to make the connection and make requests for exactly what you desire most in your business on a daily basis.

Small or large, whatever you want can be easily created if you use this process consistently. I get emails every week from people all over the globe who have created what they call 'miracles' by using this journal.

Writing down your requests is extremely powerful. When you type or write your desires, it becomes your first piece of evidence that you are on your way to manifestation. Writing also happens to be your greatest point of focus. When you are writing, it creates a vacuum for your thoughts. When you are positively focused, you are literally attracting the people, places, things and circumstances to create all that you desire in your business.

The daily attraction process in this book is a practice. The more you do it, the more you attract. This process is to support you in deliberately using the Law of Attraction to attract your ideal business, that supports your ideal lifestyle.

No compromising.

Nothing is off limits.

Everything in your business becomes fun and easy. Doubling (and even tripling) your profits becomes a reality. And it can be like this every year.

You create every circumstance in your life whether you wanted it or not, simply by the focus of your thoughts. This is why it is critical to focus on things that make you feel joy. The more joy you experience, the more joy you attract. It's the same process for everything in life. Especially if you want to create wealth through your business.

In simple terms, the Law of Attraction goes like this:

- Decide what you want. Decide the kind of day you want. Decide the types of interactions with people you desire. Decide how much you will accomplish. Decide what kinds of places you want to visit, everything from restaurants to vacations. Decide what kind of environment you want to live, work and play in. Decide how much money you'll make.

- Get your emotions and thoughts lined up with your desires. Decide which perspectives serve you best when focusing on each desire. If you want more money, but you are focused on the pressure of needing to hurry up and make more sales to pay your bills, what do you think happens? Not much. You're actually repelling sales.

You're better served by appreciating the customers you do have or the folks who inquire about your services. Or backing away from your computer and going for a walk to connect back in to your power. The bottom line is that you need to give your energy to what you do want, not what is unwanted.

- Believe that your desires will be delivered. Wishing, and hoping something will manifest, is a good start, but not as powerful as truly trusting that you can and will get what you want. Period. The end.

You want to be in receiving mode. Expect, every day, to have great experiences. Any actions you take should feel good. No forcing, shoulding and guilting yourself into action. These actions put a crimp in your manifestation pipelines.

Productivity does not equal more money. Let me repeat that, but in a different way, to make sure you heard it. Getting a bunch of stuff checked off your to-do list has no bearing on how much money you'll make. Being in the flow with inspiration and creativity in your business and following your Inner Business Expert — yes, you have one — is the key to massive profits.

There is so much more to the Law of Attraction, but you can get a deeper understanding in my book Life Lessons for Mastering The Law Of Attraction, co-authored with Eva Gregory, Jack Canfield and Mark Victor Hansen.

The daily attraction process outlined in this book is easy, fun and fast. Like I tell my coaching clients, the time spent writing in this book will be the most productive time of your day. Yes, that's right! Getting yourself in a good feeling place, outlining your desires and being in gratitude are more powerful attraction magnets than any physical action you can take.

Abraham-Hicks (www.Abraham-Hicks.com) explains the power of your positive focus like this:

Pick any subject and spend 17 seconds of thought on that subject flowing pure positive energy towards it. Get into the feeling place as if you already had acquired or achieved the subject of your intention and attention.

At the end of that 17 seconds, spend another 17 seconds flooding more thought around the subject and then spend another 17 seconds and another 17 seconds.

Did You Know?

- 17 seconds of pure positive thought is the equivalent of 200 man-hours of action.
- 17 seconds more is the equivalent of 2,000 man-hours.
- 17 seconds more is the equivalent of 20,000 man-hours.
- And 17 seconds more equals 68 seconds of pure positive energy flowed to any subject, which is the equivalent of 200,000 man-hours of action!

Wow! Talk about leveraging your time and energy! This is why it is so powerful to use this daily process before you do anything else in your day. Once it's done, your work is to remain unattached to the outcome and allow the Universe to deliver your desires ... both big and small. Practice trusting that if there truly is an action you are supposed to take towards manifesting what you want in your business, you'll know the exact next step to take.

Inspired actions should be the only actions you act upon. Why? Because they feel empowering, they unfold easily and they happen more organically than the actions you make yourself do. Making yourself do something that you don't like is called resistance. Resistance is bad juju for profits.

This daily attraction process (or call it a ritual or practice) is designed to get you in vibrational harmony with a business that you love on a daily basis. Everything on this earth is energy. Energy vibrates. You get to choose if your vibration is spiraling upward or downward. Upward feels uplifting and downward is a downer.

This daily attraction process will also assist you in choosing the most important things for you to focus on through out your day. When you honor what is important to you, your energy is attracting a fun and profit filled journey.

USING THE SPEED DIAL FEATURE TO DOUBLE YOUR PROFITS$ (AND FUN!)

Here's how to use the daily attraction ritual section of this book as a direct connection to the Universe and manifesting abundance in all areas of your business.

The first two sections are for you to set your vibrational tone. There is no quicker way to get into a feel good place than focusing on the good stuff, right? It's pretty hard to be thinking negative thoughts when you're noticing what is working well. So many business owners (not that you would ever do this) spend their time thinking about how they aren't doing enough, sales aren't coming in fast or big enough, and plain ole beating themselves up.

Stop the madness!

Each day is a new day and a new beginning. You can create whatever you want, regardless of your past or current reality.

So the first thing you're going to do is write down at least five things that prove that you're on your way to more profits and wealth. You may think the only proof is when the money shows up.

Wrong.

The money can only show up when you feel that things are going well. You're digging on the people, projects and environment that surround you.

Profits are a by-product of how good you feel.

Here's what I wrote today ...

The following evidence proves that I'm aligning with more profits and wealth!

- Jack Canfield said YES to giving me an endorsement for my new book 10 Minute Money Makers! WOOT!
- I got 3 orders for Speed Dial the Universe this morning.
- My mastermind group was very enthusiastic about my new book.
- A hot JV partner, who is always booked when I ask them to promote me, said YES to supporting my BIG launch next year.
- I got a request for a 15-minute strategy session next week.

Before writing this I was just focused on the task at hand. Now I have a little swagger in my step! My vibration instantly increased.

If you have more than 5 pieces of evidence, log the rest in the back of your journal. There you'll find a special Evidence Log (page 193). Whenever you feel like you're not making enough progress, go back to what you've previously written for a good vibrational pick-me-up.

Sometimes it is easier for people, other than yourself, to point out the progress you are making. On many occasions I've had my friends remind me of all the good stuff happening around me to which I'm blind.

What causes this blindness? Focusing on what's not working or the perspective that things are not progressing fast enough.

There are some big time benefits to keeping your Evidence Log. The best part is that it helps you to relax when you have even the smallest bit of proof that you are attracting what you want. It also gives you feedback that you are focusing your attention in a way that serves you. Lastly, when your attention is on collecting positive evidence, guess what you'll attract more of? More fabulous evidence!

Now you're ready for a quick love fest to further increase your profit vibration by using the power of appreciation! The second step in the daily Speed Dial attraction process is to write down anything you appreciate in your business right now, big or small. It can be the same things as yesterday if that's what is true for you. Sometimes, the only things you can find to be appreciative of are that you are still breathing and have a roof over your head.

Here's an example:

Today, I appreciate this about my business ...

I love that the inspiration for my program launch just keeps coming through so strong. All of these fun ideas make me want to scream at the top of my lungs with delight. I love that Rob takes my creativity to all new heights. When we get together it's like an avalanche of fun! And Christine's book was really helpful in writing my request for a book endorsement from Joe Vitale. I love that guy. Every time I send him an email he responds within hours. I also love my team. I'm surrounded by rock stars!

Ah, I feel better already! Now you're ready to decide how you want to feel for the day. Most people just jump into their to-do list when they're ready to work, while others have a feeling of dread. You're in control of how you feel. It's really the only thing that nobody else gets to determine for you. What is the feeling you want to embrace today?

It looks like this when filled out:

My dominant feeling about my business will be time abundance.

I often write the same things several days in a row if I'm focused on shifting a fear based thought. I choose other dominant feelings like inspired, calm, spacious, joy-filled and prosperous!

Now you are ready to choose what you, no kidding, will do today because you're being called to do it. Not what your mama told you to do. Not what the 'productivity police' keep whispering over your shoulder. It's what you feel called to do to align your business with your vision.

Before you actually write anything down, you'll want to consult with your Inner Business Expert. Every business owner has one. It's your divine guidance system and it has access to solutions, money-making ideas, and inspired actions that always lead to abundance. Lack, fear, overwhelm and indecision don't exist when you're in partnership with your Inner Business Expert.

Take a nice deep breath in and let it out with a sigh. Now ... write, without censoring, your top five inspired actions for the day. If you do not finish everything on the list, do not beat yourself up. I repeat, do not beat yourself up. This list is to help you stay focused on what matters most. It is by no means a measuring stick for your success or future profits.

I've successfully used this process for years. Your Inner Business Expert knows what is truly in your best interest to create a business that fulfills you on every level and delivers more than enough revenue.

To keep focused on only those actions that feel inspired will take a huge amount of trust. You may feel guilt or anxiety that you're not forcing yourself to do something that you feel you should be doing. Do your best to trust this process. Sometimes you'll be guided to do things that you don't feel are 'productive' or directly related to making money. Do not try to override your Inner Guidance. It will backfire every time!

You may have a hard time limiting yourself to five inspired action items each day, especially if you're used having ten to twenty items that are on your daily to-do list. Remember the saying, "Less is more" and "Slow down to go fast." You're focused on quality not quantity. You have no access to your brilliance when you are focused on just trying to knock things off a list as fast as you can.

If you are a person who never writes down your action items, you may feel relief once you get into this habit. It gets it out of your head and will create intentionality to your day. You will stop reacting to whatever circumstances pop up during the day. You'll be more deliberately focused and on purpose.

Once you've written down your top five inspired actions, choose the one that is most compelling to jump into first. You want to feel good about your actions before, during and after you take them.

Some days you may have to put an item on the list because the deadline for its completion is due. It may be an action that you despise, like getting your paperwork in order for your accountant. Remember, you are always at choice about how you want to feel during an action. Decide how you want to feel while doing it and what your desired end result will be when completed. Be clear about the positive impact that taking the action will have on your life.

Here's an example of my inspired actions for the day ...

- Take photo for new journal
- One hour editing journal
- Give feedback to my mastermind group
- Pay bills
- Go to bank

How do you handle all the stuff that didn't make it on to your inspired action list but still has to be handled at some point? You'll need to release the feeling of needing to do it all right now. You also have to release any feelings of concern or worry about getting things done faster.

A great tool for deliberately letting go of all the pressures of feeling like an action has to be taken or you won't get your desired results, is to delegate the item or make a request to the Universe.

The next section of your Speed Dial process is designed exactly for this purpose.

Here's my filled out example:

Everything else that I need to attract more profits is being handled by The Universe.
Thank you, Universe!

My book goes to #1 in my top five categories the first week it's released. My webinar agenda is well laid out, transformational and compelling. It was a cinch to write. My slide show makes me happy and clearly conveys the message. The book is fully edited and back in my hands on Monday and I love it! The book cover makes me happy, happy, happy. I'm #1 in JV Insider Circle Launch and my peeps rave about the experience.

Once you have made your requests for what you want you want the Universe to handle, trust that it will be delivered. You will be inspired to be at the perfect places, talking to the perfect people and led to the creativity to attract exactly what you requested. Your job is just focus on what is on your inspired action list for the day.

Everything will come together for you, even if you don't see immediate results or solutions at this moment. Sometimes it can be hard to trust when you don't see clear evidence that what you need is showing up. But trusting is the very thing that will yield you peace, and in turn the powerful evidence you desire.

Next come the results.

At this point in the process you've ...

- Shown a spotlight on your profit evidence
- Taken time out for appreciation
- Chosen your dominant feeling for the day
- Chosen your inspired actions to support your business vision
- Delegated anything you don't have time for, or don't want to do, to the Universe

One of my favorite sections is next. I call it "Your Wild Hair Intention." It's a funky name because it's something you throw out to the Universe with no attachment. You don't need it and it won't break your heart if it doesn't show up. It's a wild and fun intention for the day.

The purpose is to begin to ask for things for the fun of it rather than because you need it. If you had a magic wand in your hand, with no limits on what you could manifest, what would you ask for? Imagine now that all of your immediate needs for security and freedom were handled.

Would your requests get wilder if you had to come up with at least two hundred desires? My intention is for you to lighten up about manifesting. Get silly. You want to get very masterful at seeing outside of what you need and ask for what you might previously have considered outrageous or greedy.

Do you need a second home in the mountains or on the beach? Probably not, but it'd be cool, right? Do you need to be on the cover of Success magazine? No, but you'd probably be honored if you were.

Here are some of my past Wild Hair Intentions ...

Wouldn't it be awesome if today ...

- I got my first $50,000 a year client?!
- Tony Robbins asked me to speak on his stage?!

- My Speed Dial the Universe App earned $30,000 this month?!
- Oprah's producers asked me to be an expert on her show?!
- I surprised my mate with a new airplane?!

Even though you're having fun with this, the Universe still considers it a direct order. Have a blast placing your orders! If you don't ask, you have zero energy going to bigger desires. If you're not smiling when you write it, ask for something more fun.

This exercise alone has created more miracles for my clients than I can count. Stuff that would blow your mind. The key is to write it down and not take score. No judging if it doesn't happen in a day or a year. It's an exercise to increase your asking and receiving muscle. And you'll be delightfully surprised when you begin noticing that things happen "out of the blue."

Now imagine that one of your business desires has already manifested (it can be your wild hair intention if you wish). You're enjoying and appreciating how the manifestation unfolded.

The next part of your daily attraction practice is writing out, in detail, the process of your fabulous manifestation. You literally get to make up anything you want about how it happened, who was involved and all the circumstances. In fact, the details can be outright science fiction based on no reality you've ever known. This process, known as scripting, can really inject your life with fun!

Scripting has been a ritual in my life for over a decade. Since you get to make up every word, every word should delight you more than the last one. I tell my clients that if they're not smiling at some point during this process, they're not making the details sufficiently ... juicy.

What exactly do you write about? It could be one of your most important desires or it could be about an important conversation you'd like to take place. You may even expand on one of your Wild Hair Intentions! Imagine you're writing an email to a friend about this fabulous event. Appeal to all of your senses, painting a clear picture as if it has already happened.

Check out my scripting below.

The most amazing thing has happened in my business! Listen to this ...

My launch made me a millionaire. Straight up! Who knew it'd be that easy to help that many people? And I had a blast. I think it was the book going viral at over a million – count 'em, a million – downloads in a week that pushed it into full motion. Whoa! If I'd truly trusted that generating this much wealth was about owning my expertise and following the fun, I'd have done it decades ago.

One of the best parts of this experience was taking my team and their families on a decadent vacation together. It was so much fun to get to know each other in person rather than on the phone. The place where we stayed was gorgeous. And the view? Breathtaking. I'm glad the food was over the top since Lauray is such a foodie. Even all the kids had a rip-roaring time together. And they got along so well. We've decided to do it every year. All of my dreams are coming true. LOVE IT!

I just did that script off the top of my head. I was doing it for my personal joy, as well as showing you an example. That was fun! I'm smiling.

Do you remember Abraham-Hicks explanation of the powerful impact of 68 seconds of pure positive focus? I guarantee you that the Universe is putting together an awesome vacation for my team and me right now!

After scripting and the other Speed Dial the Universe processes, you should be very clear on where your attention will be placed for the day. And you're pre-paving a very joyous and abundant future.

Sign your name on the line at the bottom of the page. You're acknowledging that you're dialed into the Universe and your Inner Business Expert. You're also claiming that today is going to be awesome!

There's one last section in your Speed Dial the Universe journal. The Ask and You'll Receive section (page 209) is to use whenever you need specific guidance on how to best manifest something you want in your business. It's a structure for tapping into your Inner Business Expert.

Take several deep breaths before you begin asking the question in which you need assistance with an answer. Then write down your question. There is no question too big, small, specific or generic to ask. Ask with the intention of knowing you will receive a perfect answer.

Here are some examples of questions you can ask, all prefaced, naturally, by "Dear Universe ..."

- what is the best way for me attract more sales this week?
- is there any action that would support me in attracting $10,000 of new income in the next day?
- what is the easiest way for me to align with ideal team members?
- how can I step out of fear and back into my power?

You may receive an immediate answer. You may receive several answers. Your answers may be brief and simple. If the answer feels good, it was the Universe talking. If you didn't receive an answer immediately, your resistance/fear may be in the way. That's alright; don't push to get an answer. The seed has been planted and the answer will pop through shortly.

You have now completed your most productive actions of the day. Congratulations! You're more aligned with everything you desire now. This daily attraction process sets you up to win now and into your future. The rest of your day will be best spent focused on observing things, people, places and events that you enjoy.

Do your best to know that who you are in this moment is enough. Is there room to improve? Always! But that doesn't mean that you're not worthy of every single thing you desire in this moment. Know your brilliance, love yourself up and enjoy your time spent in your business.

If you find yourself frustrated, let that be okay, too. Give yourself permission to feel any emotion that comes up. The less you resist any negative emotion, the faster you'll move through it and onto something better.

My deepest desire is that you become masterful at knowing your worth. Have fun with using the Law of Attraction in a very deliberate way in your business.

If you need more support or structure in your journey please shoot me an email, call or check out my website for tons of awesome resources to support you in doubling your profits and doubling your fun!

You're well on your way to loads of good stuff by Speed Dialing the Universe on a daily basis.

Everything is about to get better than ever!
